Expected Outcome

This study tour aimed to provide the students with practical insights into the workings of the stock exchange and enhance their understanding of capital markets.

Purpose of the event

To gain a comprehensive understanding of the different types of capital market products available and their significance in the financial ecosystem.

Detailed Report:

On 10th May 2024, the PGDM students of Lloyd Business School had the enriching opportunity to visit the National Stock Exchange (NSE) in Mumbai. This study tour aimed to provide the students with practical insights into the workings of the stock exchange and enhance their understanding of capital markets.

The visit began with a warm welcome from the NSE officials, followed by a detailed presentation on the history and evolution of the NSE. The students were introduced to the various segments of the stock exchange, including equity, derivatives, and debt markets. They gained a comprehensive understanding of the different types of capital market products available and their significance in the financial ecosystem.

The highlight of the tour was an interactive session with NSE experts, who shared their knowledge on investment strategies, risk management, and the dynamics of market returns. The students actively participated, asking pertinent questions and engaging in discussions that broadened their perspectives on financial markets.

The practical exposure to the trading floor and the live market operations was particularly enlightening. It allowed the students to witness firsthand the fast-paced environment of stock trading and the sophisticated technology that drives it.

Learning Outcomes

Overall, the study tour to the NSE was a highly educational experience. It provided the PGDM students with valuable insights into the Indian stock exchange, enhancing their academic knowledge and preparing them for future careers in finance.
